What's Different about WebWAX™?

WebWAX™ is a new kind of system from Oriel Systems Limited. Fully hosted in the cloud, WebWAX™ removes the need for a master station setup to control and view current and historical information from your telemetry systems. It is also an optional add on to run alongside your master station, ensuring that your data is backed up, whilst allowing third parties to view data as per your requirements. Views can be restricted, so people only see what you want them to. As with all of our systems, security is key and access controls are in place with the system, with a higher level of password protection available.
